FACING CALL FOR $4,200 IN RELIEF WORK

Contributions Total $2,238.47; Continuance of Red Cross Here Assured

ELECT HEAD TONIGHT

Little Difficulty Anticipated in Raising Additional Funds for Flood Sufferers

Marion County went over the top to win in the campaign to raise its original quota of $2,100 in the Mississippi flood relief fund and now faces a call for twice that amount, the quotas for all communities throughout the country having been doubled in the latest appeal coming from President Coolidge and national headquarters of the American Red Cross.

A report today contributions reported at Marion banks totalled $2,238.47 and with additional subscriptions coming in there were prospects that the amount would be considerably increased before the day's close.

Work Assured

Raising of the $2,100 assures continuance of Red Cross activities here throughout 1927. A prominent business man who agreed to accept chairmanship of the drive provided the $2,100 was subscribed by the community and funds for Red Cross operations during the year were provided will be elected tonight at a meeting of the executive committee, it was stated today.

He will take charge immediately and direct a campaign to raise the remainder of the increased flood fund quota. He is also expected to outline his program for Red Cross work during the remainder of the year. The executive committee recently voted to close Red Cross headquarters on July 1, due to shortage of funds, but this action will be rescinded under the new arrangement. A group of local business men have subscribed $3,000 to pay expenses after July 1, this subscription being contingent upon securing the services of the man who will be elected.

Drive Continues

Little difficulty is anticipated in raising the $4,200 flood fund quota. Work toward that end is now under way and will resolve itself into a concerted drive under direction of the new chairman.

Preliminary arrangements are now under way for a relief fund benefit dance to be held at Crystal Lake Park Pavilion, probably Thursday night. Lloyd B. Scheff, manager of the park, has offered the pavilion and services of an orchestra without charge so that all of the receipts would go to the flood fund.

Marion Local of the Federation of Musicians has also offered to donate the services of an orchestra for another benefit dance provided a hall in the upTurn to Page 5

COOLIDGE SEEKING REPORT ON FLOOD

Washington, May 3. President Coolidge announced today he had asked Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Secretary of War Davis to proceed at once to the flood area to prepare for him detailed reports on the relief and rehabilitation situation.

Davis will be assisted by the army engineer corps and the Mississippi River commission. The president indicated he would submit the report to congress for use in drafting flood control legislation.

The president believes the $10,000,000 relief fund is right by the Red Cross will be adequate for the present. He thought the fund would be subscribed easily as the American people gave $11,000,000 for the Japanese earthquake sufferers.

BOY, 12, SHOOTS NEGRO GIRL; HELD BY POLICE

Fatal Attack Follows Argument Between Two; Youth Postal Man's Son

Steelton, Pa., May 3. Charged with murdering a 10 year old negro girl Norma Gray, and held near here William Lash, 12, son of Steelton's assistant postmaster, was arrested early today by the borough police and held in the house of detention.

The girl was shot through the head with a rifle as she and two girl companions were crossing a field on their way home from school yesterday afternoon. She died instantly.

According to the story told J. H. Kreider, county coroner, by Sarah Burgess and Beulah Williams, negro girl companions of the victim, the three were walking through the field when they saw a boy with a rifle, shooting at sparrows. As they neared the boy he and the Gray girl exchanged words and the latter threatened to stone him. The boy is reported to have said, "If you throw that stone, I'll shoot you."

24 BODIES ARE REMOVED FROM MINE DEPTHS

Practically All Hope for 76 Men Still Entombed Is Abandoned

Fairmont, W. Va., May 3. The toll in the Everettville mine disaster reached 21 shortly after noon today when 12 bodies were found far back in the main heading of mine No. 3 of the New England Fuel and Transportation Co.

The bodies were not removed from the heading which is about 5,000 feet back from the entrance of the mine.

Tests of air in explosion wrecked mine No. 3 showed the percentage of carbon monoxide gas so high as to cause United States Bureau of Mines officials to practically abandon all hope for the rescue alive of 76 miners still entombed.

Gas Is Prevalent

Gas is so prevalent throughout the mine, despite the efforts of the owners to avert explosions through the use of rock dust, that mine officials fear further blasts momentarily. For this reason every precaution is being against igniting gas accumulations and consequently rescue work is progressing very slowly.

Gov. Howard M. Gore of West Virginia is keeping in constant touch with the situation by long distance telephone, from Charleston. After visiting the bereaved families, the executive returned to the state capitol but throughout the night he received reports regularly as to the progress of the rescuers.

To Probe Blast

Coroner Martin M. Moore of Monongolia County has impaneled a jury to probe the cause of the blast, but the inquest will be delayed until all bodies have been recovered and the mines have been cleared.

City officials of Fairmont and Morgantown are co-operating in arranging for public funerals for miners who cannot be identified. Joint funerals will be held for the identified victims, with the exception of the men killed while at work on the tipple.

Cause of the explosion remains a

SALESMAN TO TELL STORY TO SAVE HIMSELF

Follows Mrs. Ruth Snyder After Widow of Art Editor Is Grilled

CONTINUES DENIAL

No Amount of Legal Cross-Fire Able To Break Down Her Version

Courthouse, Long Island City, N. Y., May 3. Henry Judd Gray, dapper corset salesman, who with his former sweetheart, Mrs. Ruth Snyder, is accused of murdering the woman's husband, Albert Snyder, took the witness stand in his own defense at 2:10 o'clock this afternoon.

The state finished its cross-examination of Mrs. Snyder at 1:58 p. m.

Gray shuffled to the stand, his head bowed, a few minutes after Mrs. Snyder, who had been under rigorous cross-examination, had left it.

As Gray took his seat, his mother, Mrs. Margaret Gray, sobbed aloud.

Gray was calm. Justice Scudder told him he did not have to testify.

"I'll testify," said Gray in a steady voice.

Attorney Samuel L. Miller began questioning him.

Gray testified he was born in Cortland, N. Y., and lived there six months.

Q. How long did you live in New [illegible]? A. Thirty four years.

He said he went to the Beringer High School in 1907. He attended there three and three quarter years and then went into business with his father.

Q. Did you attend church? A. Yes, from the time I was three.

Q. Have you been a constant churchgoer? A. No.

Gray, in a new blue suit with a pocket handkerchief protruding, answered questions without a quaver in his voice.

He said he had never had any domestic disturbances, that he and Mrs. Gray lived "in complete happiness."

Q. When did you meet Mrs. Snyder? A. In June or July, 1926.

He said a friend of his of 10 or 12 years' standing, Harry Folsom, was with him. He met her at Henry's Restaurant in New York City. He believed they had some drinks at the time.

Tells of Appointment

The next time he met Mrs. Snyder was in July. He couldn't remember at whose request the appointment was made.

He believed she had an appointment with Mr. Folsom. At any rate, the three of them met in Henry's restaurant.

She remained until about 8 or 8:30 and then took the train home.

Gray said that Mrs. Snyder went to his office with him and they went to the showroom, where they first became intimate.

Some time later he received a letter from her forwarded from the office, and asking him to get a corset for her mother and enclosing a check. He also received a postal card from her.

The next time he heard from her was when she called him up by telephone.

Gray sat quietly in the witness box, looking through darkened glasses at his counsel as he answered questions. His answers came without hesitation and in a clear, refined tone.

Mrs. Snyder had resumed her seat at counsel table. She regarded him with interest. She hung her head when Gray made his accusations.

In the early part of August, 1925, Gray said he made an appointment with Mrs. Snyder at Henry's Restaurant. On that occasion, he said, she told him of an argument she had had with her husband. She said she intended to leave him.

Testimony of Henry Judd Gray incomplete at press hour.

Mrs. Snyder was under re-direct examination only five minutes and stepped from the stand obviously relieved, at 2:05 p. m.

Child Testifies

Lorraine Snyder, nine-year-old daughter of Mrs. Snyder, was called to the witness stand shortly after her mother had stepped off the stand after a gruelling cross-examination.

As the little girl stood beside Justice Scudder and was told that she must tell only the truth Mrs. Snyder burst into tears, and her sobs could be heard throughout the courtroom.

The child merely testified that she remembered the morning when she found mother tied up in her room, and her father dead. She said her mother told her to call the neighbors, and this she did. Lorraine, deadly pale and badly frightened, was then excused.

When court adjourned at 12:35 o'clock this afternoon for the luncheon recess, Mrs. Snyder still was on the stand. She had been on the stand nearly 11 hours, eight of which were cross-examination. She was bombarded with questions for two hours and 30

'Y' Campaign Total $9,279 As Workers Meet At Lunch

Nine thousand two hundred and seventy-nine dollars from a total of 330 subscriptions is the sum raised in the first day of the annual finance campaign of the Y. M. C. A. and Boy Scouts in Marion.

That amount was reported at noon today when solicitors met at luncheon at the Y. M. C. A. Ninety-six of the campaign workers were present. The goal set is $25,500.

Isaly Division Ahead

The section led by Charles H. Isaly held high honors in the division campaign race. The group of men in that section turned in $1,869, having 94 subscriptions. The division led by A. W. Kette was second in line with $1,173 while John H. Clark's group followed with $1,172, only one dollar behind. Homer Waddell's division totaled $851 in the first day and the division captained by Roy H. Waddell turned in $504.

The executive committee, billed on the record board at the Y. M. C. A. as the "bonus pot," reported $3,710 out of 18 subscriptions.

Each of the divisions is composed of five teams, each team consisting of five men. Captains of the teams take care of the final totals of each of their men.

With more than a third of the amount sought in the campaign now in their hands, the workers today were eager to renew the fight during the next 24 hours and bring in an even more favorable report at the next meeting Wednesday noon.

Each campaigner at present has certain cards to work on but after Thursday noon, all territory in the city will be open to all solicitors.

Hoover's Flood Activities Create Candidacy Gossip

Prompt and Efficient Grasp of Southern Disaster Is Being Recognized

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3.—Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover's flood activities are the subject of general speculation in connection with his presidential prospects.

His prompt and efficient grasp of the disaster is recognized as having stamped him as invariably equal to any imaginable emergency. Party leaders are alive to the value of this popular estimate of him as a super-man and are alert to capitalize it.

HERBERT HOOVER

Nevertheless, politicians are not ready, at least yet, to place him very close to Coolidge for the 1928 Republican nomination although they admit an element of weight begins to enter the situation. Hitherto, they considered Coolidge a practical certainty, with Hoover among several reasonable probabilities, in the unlikely event of Coolidge voluntarily or semi-voluntarily dropping out. Now they think the chances of Coolidge dropping out are slightly increased with Hoover as the only alternative.

THE story has been that Coolidge wanted renomination, if nominated re-election also, but would be unwilling to run any risk of defeat at the polls.

In case some new object of public acclaim arises and it is felt Hoover may be such the chance is seen that the president may feel the anti-third term issue will count more strongly against him than he expected, that industrial factory conditions in the corn belt will count more heavily than he had anticipated, that his party is somewhat divided and that he will be safer to throw his strength to a candidate acceptable to himself than to incur the peril of a repudiation of his administration.

Potato Crops

[illegible] is an opportunity to increase the acreage of potatoes throughout the [illegible] area. The chief difficulty in the way, however, for this year is the scarcity of good seed potatoes. All the Ohio grown certified seed potatoes were sold several weeks ago. The supply in Michigan is also depleted but [illegible] in Minnesota, Wisconsin and New York. Looking forward to future years, however, potatoes should come in for consideration.

"Alfalfa deserves quite a good deal of consideration. Alfalfa may be sown with barley or oats as a nurse crop. These nurse crops will grow quite rapidly and may be cut for hay, oats, particularly, makes a very good hay. After this hay crop is removed the alfalfa grows quite rapidly and is well established by the following season when [illegible] may be obtained. It should be kept in mind that even though the oats may be seeded so late that a good crop is not produced it is perhaps the best way to get alfalfa or sweet clover established.

It is better also to allow the ground to remain fallow until July

The Packard Six
—a Finer car, at a Lower price

TODAY'S Packard Six is the finest car—excepting only today's Packard Eight—that the Packard Motor Car Company has ever built in all its 27-year history.

Yet the price of the most popular Packard Six model is lower by half than the introductory price of this great car seven years ago. The five-passenger Sedan now lists at $2250 at the factory—a figure which establishes a new price class for quality cars.

Today's Packard Six, in addition to the fine engineering and precision workmanship so long associated with Packard cars offers improvements found on no other car—except the Packard Eight.

Power, increased by 50 per cent over the earlier models; four-wheel brakes; larger, more beautiful, more comfortable bodies; instant chassis lubrication from the dash; these and many more refinements which together contribute to vastly superior performance, greater comfort and new ease of routine care.

Motorists have been quick to appreciate the new Packard Six values offered by the recent price reduction of $335. May we suggest prompt action to insure early delivery?

The Packard Six five-passenger Sedan delivered at your door—freight and tax paid—now costs but $2135. You may enjoy Packard ownership by an initial payment as low as $750 from which is deducted the value of your used car—any surplus being applied against the small monthly payments.

[illegible] made in five suits [illegible] ago in which it was [illegible] assessments levied [illegible] of the amount allowed [illegible] limited to one-third [illegible] value.

[illegible] who signs the pe- [illegible] improvement, however, [illegible] under the one-third [illegible] This was the basis of [illegible] ruling denying a reduction [illegible] in one of the five suits [illegible] by James W. McMur- [illegible] for the estate of Rabbi [illegible] a reduction of an ass- [illegible] $507.92 for the E. Carl [illegible] property. The lot was ap- [illegible] at $550 and this would have en- [illegible] Lyman estate to a subsequent [illegible] reduction of the assessment. In- vestigation by City Solicitor Geran disclosed, however, that the owner of the property had signed the paving petition, thus waiving all rights regarding assessment limitations.

Case Dismissed

The case was dismissed and costs of the proceeding placed against the plaintiff.

The five suits named James E. Messenger, county treasurer, as defendant, and asked for injunctions restraining him from collecting the assessments. Temporary injunctions were granted and about a month ago City Solicitor Geran and attorneys for the property owners agreed to adjust the disputed assessments on the basis of values to be fixed by three competent appraisers.

The rulings made by Judge Scofield were based upon the reports of these appraisers. Four of the property owners had not signed the paving petitions and consequently there was no question about their being entitled to a reduction of assessments. The appraisers were C. D. Schaffner, J. J. Arthur and E. H. Cowan.

The assessment against the property of Cora Garrett for the Fairgrounds-to paving was reduced from $822.45 to $500. Her lot was appraised at $1,500.

Katherine Cowl's assessment in connection with the Georgetown paving was decreased from $712.32 to $217, her property being appraised at $650.

Assessment against the Leona Boyd property for the Unoberay paving was cut from $1,180.66 to $958.22. This property was appraised at $2,000.

Already Paid

Frances M. Pasciulli's two lots had been assessed a total of $808 for the Locust paving. The two lots were appraised at $600 each and his total assessment cut to $550. As he has already paid no more than this amount, all of the remainder of the original assessments were ordered taken off the tax books.

As the result of these five suits being disposed of, only five other actions involving protests against street improvement assessments remain on the county court records. City Solicitor Geran states that decisions are expected in these in the near future.

The solicitor plans to clear the decks as much as possible for suits which are to be brought shortly to force collection of numerous special assessment delinquencies now standing on the tax books.

Marion Canto Club Closes Fourth Successful Season With Delightful Concert

Harding High Male Glee Club Gives Two Selections on "Pop" Program; Quartet Feature of Entertainment in Star Auditorium

Members of the Canto Club, prominent local vocal organization, brought their fourth and most successful season to a close here last night with the concluding number of a series of three delightful concerts, presented here during the past year. Last night's program was presented before an unusually large and appreciative audience at the Star Auditorium.

The program last night was known as a "pop" concert and included two selections by the splendid chorus of the Harding High Male Glee Club, which is directed by Howard M. Temple, supervisor of music in the city schools. Their numbers were "Gypsy John" by Gertrude Swift and "Kentucky Babe" by Adam Geibel.

Program Feature

Featured on the program was the Canto Quartet, which made its initial appearance last night with two selections, "Sylvia," by Oley Speaks, and an especially enjoyable number, "My Little Banjo," by Dichmont. The quartet was organized by Ernst C. Carl, director of the Canto Club, and is composed of George Lasch, first tenor, John F. Lacey, second tenor, W. E. Orcutt, bass and Harwood Taylor, baritone. Mr. Lacey directs the quartet. The quartet was formed for the purpose of representing the club in vocal entertainments where accommodations can not be made for the entire club.

Three of the most beautiful numbers of the performance served to open the program. The selections, all of which were sung in concert by the club were "A Song of Fellowship," by Harvey B. Gaul, "Absent," by John W. Metcalf, and "When Good Fellows Get Together," by Frederic Field Bullard.

Lend Variety

Two numbers lending variety and color to the program were "The Big Bass Viol," a novelty selection with solo parts by W. E. Orcutt, and "Off in the Stilly Night," by G. Mathew, sung by the club with John F. Lacey, soloist. The latter number was sung by Arthur Kraft, noted American tenor, who appeared on the Canto Club program in January. Both numbers were especially arranged for the club by Mr. Carl.

Mr. Orcutt was heard in two enjoyable solo numbers, "Two Grenadiers" by Schumann and "Deep Down the Deep" by Woodforde-Finden. Three outstanding and greatly appreciated numbers of the program were the three solos in Gaelic Tongue" by Beethoven, "It was the Rose Herself Who Sighed" by Robert Franz, and "Serenade" by Hugo Wolf sung by Mr. Lacey. He responded to an encore with "Irish" by Mc-Gill.

One of the finest and most appreciated numbers ever sung by the club is "Bells of St. Mary's" by Furber-Adams, sung by request last night.

For Off I Hear a Lover's Flute," by Charles W. Cadman and "Little Indian Sioux or Crow" by Homer N. Bartlett were sung by the club preceding their closing number, "A Southern Fantasie" comprising a number of southern songs in an original arrangement by Mr. Carl.

Piano Accompanists

Piano accompanists were Mrs. Helen F. Lacey and Miss Mabel Bennett. As a prelude the Harding High School orchestra, also under Mr. Temple's direction, played several numbers.

According to announcement made by George B. Kusjen as the club representative, the club plans to open a new season here in October with a special program featuring an instrumental ensemble composed of some of the Junior Berger orchestra. Mr. Temple-Hawk, pianist, and Ruth Stevenson, violinist, will be heard in solo selections. The Canto Club was able to obtain Miss Hawk as an encore at their last concert and is planning through Manager Kusjen securing a return visit.

Assisting Soloist

The assisting soloist for the club concert program in March has not been announced. In May, the club's annual home concert will be given with the soloists and various other artists as features of the program. Rehearsals for seven hours for the program were taken each night.

The club will appear in concert before the delegates in attendance at the state convention of Federated Women's Clubs Thursday night and will be heard at Galion Friday night in connection with the observance of National Music Week there.

"I AM ALSO THANKFUL"

Ruminated Bill Smith, as he reflectively eyed a small bit of roast suspended on the end of a wooden toothpick, "that I have learned I must not mix my friends up in my financial affairs. There is but one surer method of losing a friend than to loan him money, and that is to borrow from him.

"Just about every time you establish a relationship of borrower or borrowee with one of your friends, you might about as well bid your friendship farewell, for sooner or later something is going to come up to knock it higher than a kite.

"Marion Chattel Loan Co., 136 S. State-st, is the proper place to have one's financial needs satisfied. There is the place I go, and there is the place I send my friends. A good bit also I learned to be thankful that there was such a place for me, and even more thankful that here I could safely guide those who wish to borrow from me, and I would still have friends."—Adv.

WALTER L. MAIN CIRCUS CLAIMS TO HAVE NOTED ARRAY OF 40 CLOWNS

One of the greatest arrays of clowns ever carried on tour by an American circus is found with the Walter L. Main Circus this year.

The role of clown is no easy one. The modern clown is a paradox. He is the same as in the days of the celebrated Dan Rice, back in the past century, and yet he is a different clown. The explanation? Well in this way—he is the same in that he paints his face in vermilion and white and adheres to the time-honored ridiculous pattern in his dress, he is different because of the fact that his work of today is practically all pantomime and he never reverts to the old habit of clowns of former days who almost exclusively made up his act of recitations, songs, and jokes.

The change in the clown's method of work is the logical result of shifting conditions in the circus world. In other days, when one ring sufficed, the tent was necessarily small, a fact which permitted the clown to be heard distinctly everywhere under the canvas. At that time one act was quite enough for such a limited audience. And the clown being obliged to contribute his share on the program, happily hit upon the pleasing and successful idea of singing, joking and reciting.

Nowadays all is changed. Tents have been enlarged to care for many additional rings and are of huge proportions. It is impossible for the clown's voice to be heard from every point and so naturally he has to act entirely in pantomime, or "dumb acting." There are forty clowns with the Walter L. Main Circus who form the greatest collection of this sort ever seen here. The international favorite, Harry La Pearl, heads the list, and among the foremost in his support are Fred Ireton, Chick Reed, Lee Hershey, Harry Loy, Babe Dyer, Eddie Palmer, George St. John, Al De Arcan, and Jessie Jackson.

The Walter L. Main Circus will be seen here on Friday, May 6. The street parade will be given at 11 a. m., and doors open to the menagerie at 1 and 7 p. m., with the performances starting at 2 and 8 p. m.

town district can be obtained without cost.

Collection in Schools

Collections for the relief fund have been started in schools throughout the county. Yesterday the movement was started here by the City Teachers' Association here and it is reported that the teachers started it off with a substantial contribution. The amount could not be ascertained today.

The county's relief fund collection as reported to Miss Mina Doughty, secretary of the Red Cross, at noon today, was in detail as follows:

Donations left at Marion County Bank $407.27; Marion National Bank $403.27; Fahey bank $245; Marion Savings Bank $118.68; National City Bank & Trust Co $142.45; Citizens Bank, $421.19; LaRue Bank $62.50; Campbell National Bank, LaRue, $17; Rotary Club contribution $100; left at Red Cross headquarters $421.19.

Church Donations

Church contributions in addition to those announced yesterday, are: Agnes and Meeker churches, $40; Lee Street Mission $12.55; Nazarene Church $15.02; Church of the Brethren $11.04; First Church of Christ Scientist $36.16.

Appropriations for the Marion County quota had been doubled, along with quotas of all other communities, came this morning in a telegram received by Mrs. Esther Geran, acting chairman of Marion County Chapter of the Red Cross, from national headquarters. The telegram states that conditions in the flood area are much more serious than first reported, necessitating raising of a $10,000,000 fund instead of $5,000,000.

Baton Rouge, La., May 3—With residents continuing to flee to towns and villages on the banks of Louisiana's former Governor John M. Parker today issued orders for the state militia to guard the waters threatening an area with a population of 172,000 in the 14 downstream parishes bordering the west bank of the river, north of Baton Rouge.

"We had no business in 1922 the worst flood we have ever known before," Parker said in proof for granting the state help. "If the people will heed the warnings sent out it is my duty to say we will have no further loss of life this year."

Flood waters which have been coming through Arkansas for 10 days have passed over the Louisiana boundary, inundating large sections of East Carroll, West Carroll, Catahoula and Morehouse Parishes. Concordia Parish had been gradually flooding since the opening of the Glasscock break last Saturday. Evacuation orders have been issued for a score of towns in Avoyelles and St. Landry parishes, which are threatened by a break in the Bayou De Glaize levee at Big Bend.

Guards Patrol Levees

The greatest peace time task in the history of relief forces the state over has known is functioning today in an effort to avert further disaster.

Fourteen National Guard units are patrolling the levees at threatened points, sending hourly reports of river conditions to general headquarters here. When danger is imminent at any point, militia engineers in the office of Adj. Gen. L. A. Toombs, adjoining that of Governor Parker, plot the probable course of the overflowing waters on contour maps. From these the evacuation warnings are given.

minutes this morning by the belligerent Charles J. Froessel, assistant district attorney.

No amount of legal cross-fire could break down her version of what happened the night of the murder. The aggressive Froessel shot question after question at her and while at times her spunk and spirit seemed to be deserting her, indominatable will always came to her rescue and she pulled herself through.

Admire But Scoff

Spectators who had sat fascinated watching her left the courtroom loudly expressing their admiration of her courage, even though many of them, particularly the crowd of women spectators, scoffed at her story.

She admitted she kissed Gray shortly before he murdered her husband and when he kissed her, as she maintained "gay and passionate" he was not in the least upset by the cold-blooded deed he had just committed.

"I was in the bedroom," she answered Froessel's question. "Gray was sitting on the bed. He was upset. He said that he had to get away. He said that he had to get away. He said that he had to get away

This may be said for the levee system of flood control; it's all right so long as it controls.

The Buffalo News wants a "Mind Your Own Business" week. But can the country afford a national holiday a week long?

No matter what course may be followed at the next session of congress, Mr. Dawes has the satisfaction of knowing that the rule of senatorial courtesy has been superseded by the rules laid down by Mr Queensberry.

The poor, overworked White House statesman appears to have come to his death in much the same way as knight-errantry.

In the light of Mark Sullivan's statement, that Al. Smith's gain is too slight to aid his candidacy and that McAdoo is still seen as the leading figure in the Democratic race, it's a sweetly solemn thought that Mr. Coolidge will probably be reelected.

"What I would like to know," remarked the fellow who lives next door on the way down town this morning, "is what the Hon. William Gibbs McAdoo ever did for either the country or the Democratic party to justify his nomination for the presidency by Democracy."

Hot dogs, ice-cream and pop are now being sold at Fort Smith on the northernmost edge of Alberta province, the jumping-off place for the Arctic. Thus does the course of what we call civilization work its deadly way.

There is absolutely nothing to prevent the other nations of Europe from duplicating the remarkable recovery being made by Germany from the conditions which obtained at the close of the war, provided they stop trying to get something for nothing and go to work.

Norman E. Mack, for almost three decades a member of the Democratic national committee, says that Democracy must either nominate Al Smith for the presidency or forfeit the respect of the American people. And why not? If the religious issue is to be raised continuously in politics, why not let it be fought out to a finish?

Representatives of 4,000,000 English workers assembled in London plan to fight the government's trade union bill but refuse to go on strike, not so much because they are unwilling to strike as because a strike would give comfort to the communist element of labor which favors a general strike. English labor, like American, manifestly is sick and tired of its radical element and proposes to curb it or drive it out of union ranks.

Y. M. C. A. and Boy Scout Drive.

The Young Men's Christian association and Boy Scout drive for a fund of $25,500 got under way at the luncheon in the Y. M. C. A. building Monday noon and is to continue until next Friday afternoon. Four days have been set apart for the drive, but if the Y. M. C. A. and Boy Scout movements as administered locally are of the high worth they are held to be by representative citizens and parents of the boys identified with the Boy Scout movement, the drive should not extend longer than the actual time necessary to see those whose names have been carded for visitation. We use the word, visitation, rather than solicitation, for the reason that no solicitation should be necessary to attain the desired result. The goal sought should be reached in twenty-four hours—forty-eight, at the outside.

The Y. M. C. A. is not new to this community. Neither are the Boy Scouts. They are not experiments in any sense of the word. Each of them has had a local existence sufficiently long to let every citizen of Marion know what it means to the community; to let every citizen know what the one has accomplished for the young men and boys and the other has accomplished for the boys of the city.

Those who have kept in close touch with the management of the two, as well as the parents of the young men and boys, give them high commendation. They are credited with doing splendid works. Accepting this estimate of them as true and just, the sum of $25,500 to be expended for their maintenance and operation must be admitted to be money given over for excellent investment.

Laying aside all question of man-building, of citizenship-building, of morals, of sentiment, let us put the thing on a cold business basis. If either of those organizations saves one young man or boy from going wrong, it makes an asset out of what might prove a liability which might easily exceed in cost to our citizenship the $25,500 sought as the goal of the drive.

Think it over.

As a Young Indian Sees Us.

We were hardly fair to Jeddu Krishnamurti, the young Indian "Bringer of the World," Tuesday, in a paragraph expressing regret that he "couldn't have thought of something to say at parting a trifle more original than that the dollar is the god of America." The comment would have been absolutely fair had young Jeddu uttered the sentiment attributed to him, but it seems that it was not what he said, but rather a condensation by one of the dock reporters of what he thought the young Hindu said.

What Krishnamurti really said in response to a request for his views on America was this:

"I think the Americans are very kind, and I like the country, but there is too much excitement everywhere. Religion does not attain its proper growth here, and there is no time for deep thinking to get at the root of things. Americans who have lots of dollars think only of having a good time and spending money. They do not understand that one can enjoy one's self in this world of ours without any of those luxuries that are purchased by dollars.

"There is too much tendency to show off and too much striving for popularity among the wealthy here. The chase for gold has taken the people away from religion founded on basic philosophy. The American people are concerned with surface things and the churches never answer the question, 'Why do we live?'"

It may be noted that there is some difference between the condensation of the reporter and the expression of the Theosophist. Study his indictment of the American people a bit and say to yourself, if you can, that it does not possess a degree of merit. Manifestly, he makes no distinction between those who possess riches which are the accumulations of generations and those whose riches have been recently acquired; no distinction, let us say by way of illustration, between a man like John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and a millionaire war profiteer. Naturally, he would not, being a stranger here. But, looking at us as he did through the eyes of a stranger and not appreciating this distinction, is his characterization of us wholly unjust?

And coming right down to brass tacks, doesn't he hit the most of us fairly hard? Are not the majority of us inclined to spend beyond our means? Is it not true that many, if not most of us, feel that we can not enjoy ourselves and live happily save through the expenditure of money oftimes beyond reason? Isn't there a tendency among possessors of recently-acquired wealth to make something of a splurge? And, lastly, hasn't the devotion of many of us to the attainment of worldly things weakened our pursuit, if not our desire, for the things of the soul?

We will not go into the young Hindoo's indictment of the church. Let the church and the consciences of our people answer that, but aside from this, is he fair in his view of us? To be perfectly honest about the matter we are inclined to believe that he is.

Marion Is Honored.

We take it for granted that the Federated club women of Ohio assembled here for the thirty first annual convention of their organization realize that the Federated club women of Marion feel honored to have them for their guests. We have not been delegated by the local club women to speak for them, but it's the truth, and why not say it? We may also very truthfully say that Marion citizens generally appreciate the presence of the Federated club women visitors here.

There was a time when Marion felt that it did not possess the facilities for entertaining and housing large gatherings, but that time is past. We know now by the tests of experience—and the tests were markedly severe ones—that no gathering which may be conceived as a probability for local entertainment is beyond the facilities which the hospitable people of Marion are able to offer.

Since we have come to this knowledge, it has been the delight of our people to have bodies of representative men and bodies of representative women come to us for their gatherings, and the present convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs is in no sense of the word an exception to the rule.

We hope the Federated club women will have a thoroughly interesting and enjoyable time while here. We very sincerely hope that the entertainment afforded them will be such that they will leave our city with regret and go back to their homes carrying in their hearts a warm feeling for us and a desire to come again. If they do that, we know the local club women will feel repaid a thousand times o'er for any time or effort they have given to preparation for the gathering and entertainment while their guests were here.

While standing on the sidewalk in front of his home a citizen of Ravenna was run over by an automobile and so badly injured that he may die. They'll probably be breaking into our homes next, to get us fine aristocrats of the land.

A German aviator recently made a flight of nine and a third miles on a glider, the trip consuming twenty-five minutes. The fly in the ointment is that it took him over a week to tote his machine to the point on the mountain peak from which he hopped off.

Newspaper phraseology is undergoing a change. It was not so long ago that gangster murderers and bank and payroll robbers invariably made their getaway in "a big, black machine of high speed," but nowadays they use simply a "high powered car."

A bill has been introduced in the Wisconsin legislature which provides that no penalty shall be inflicted by the laws of Wisconsin upon people convicted of having beer of an alcoholic content under 2.75 per cent. in their possession. Of course, such a law conflicts with the constitution of the United States, but, it has been some time since a little matter like that has troubled Wisconsin.

All that talk about removing billboards from along the routes of the chief highways seems to have gone much the same route as the talk about keeping one side of the highway open while the other is in the course of construction or repair and thus doing away with detours.

Neglect of Teeth Invites Ills.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Every little while I have something to say to you about teeth. The surprising thing is that I do not tell you more about them. It should make us unhappy to know how many children are going about with decayed teeth.

The other day I saw an item in one of the Washington papers calling attention to the report made by the chief medical inspector of the public schools. He stated that seventy-seven per cent. of all public school children examined had decayed teeth.

It is proposed to carry on a dental health campaign in the district of Columbia. Prizes will be offered to children submitting the best posters and slogans relating to improvement of dental conditions.

In the centers of life there is no better price than good teeth. Without them nobody can have perfect health and with them there is every prospect of good digestion and long life.

You can not change the shape of your teeth. It is possible to change the relation of the teeth to each other. Dentists are doing wonderful things now in adjusting the teeth of children.

But even if your teeth are not well formed and are irregular in their arrangement, there is no reason why they should not be kept in perfect condition. This is by neglect that a tooth gets into such a state that it has to be extracted.

It is surprising how quickly cavities develop. On this account there must be frequent examinations by the dentist to make sure that all is right.

If you can remember when you were little and had a toothache you can understand why so many children are absent from school on this account. Bad teeth are responsible for a large percentage of absence from the public school. No child with an aching tooth can be happy and no mental progress can be made if the teeth give constant annoyance.

It is not alone that aching teeth cause loss of sleep and torture of mind. If the teeth are tender and sore the food is not chewed as it should be. It is not at all uncommon to find children suffering from undernourishment, where the trouble can be traced to bad teeth.

Grown people—middle-aged people and old people suffer, too, from the effects of neglected dentistry. If the body is not well nourished, the circulation good and the health what it should be, it is not at all uncommon for the gums to become infected. This results in a disease called pyorrhea.

The dreadful thing about this disease is that there is pus formation. The pus is in the mouth. It is mixed with the food and swallowed. In consequence the stomach and intestinal tract and other parts of the body suffer the danger of infection. There is no certainty of sound health when pyorrhea is present.

A great many times there are abscesses at the roots of the teeth. They may be small enough so the victim is hardly conscious of his infection. In every such case there is absorption of the pus with the possibility of involvement of the heart and the production of other serious effects which may shorten the life. You cannot afford to neglect your teeth.

NEW KINDS OF HOMES.

The monotony of three meals a day, the same bed every night, the same house every day, and one week very much like another sometimes gets on every one's nerves. It must be in such a mood that architects set about designing freak habitations. They grow weary of drawing regular houses with square corners and symmetrical facades. When the fancy for variety seizes them they do curious things.

At the Home exposition in Nice a house on a turntable is exhibited. Pressing a button starts an electric motor which revolves the house so that the breeze or the sun is available for any room desired. On hot nights the bedrooms may be turned to catch the slightest zephyr. Naturally, it will be important for the various members of the family to agree in the direction for aiming the sleeping porch or the breakfast room. It is a scheme which would do better for a small family than for an apartment building with every household clamoring for sunshine at once. The annoyance which may be caused by an automatic elevator is sufficient indication of what might happen. Two determined tenants could reduce all occupants of the building to a state of seasickness by rocking the house.

The floating hotel to ride in the sound between Sweden and Denmark, is another fanta tic project which must give great satisfaction to its designer. The yearning for a houseboat is hidden in almost every one's breast. A floating hotel should pay its owner well, for the next best thing to a permanent home on the sea would be a quiet berth instead of a port a terre.—New York Times.

SENATOR BAUMES' REPLY.

Senator Caleb H. Baumes, author of the habitual criminal law of New York, says that many people have expressed to him their opposition to the law, because their sympathies are always with the "under dog." The senator's reply to them is that their principle may be all right, but they are mistaken as to who the under dog is in such cases as the law covers.

Sympathy for the professional criminal is always misplaced, for he is never the under dog in the struggle. He is armed ready to kill if necessary to commit crime and escape, and it makes no difference to those he gives up, citizens or policemen's.

One of the New York papers in commenting on Senator Baumes' reply to criticism of the law which bears his name says: "Who is the under dog in every robbery with arms when somebody is killed? Who is the under dog when an honest merchant, struggling to make a go of his business, is deprived of the fruits of years of industry, frugality and care by a gang of burglars or by holdup men?"

Those who oppose measures to control the criminal element and talk of their sympathies for the under dog are doing much to weaken the enforcement of such laws as we have for the protection of life, property and are giving encouragement to forces of society.—Youngstown Vindicator.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Your attention is directed today to the Snyder-Gray trial. The news of this trial is being handled differently. There is a concerted effort to de-bunk the trial.

We all have a vague notion of what bunk is and what it means to de-bunk something. But when you put yourself in the place of a reporter who is sitting through hour after hour of testimony, seeking to record the salient points without being swayed by sentiment of this court-room drama, you realize what a task the reporter faces.

Some fine examples of reporting have been born at this trial. I wish, however, that I could read what Shakespeare would write about this case were he alive.

Would any one accuse him of applying soft-soap tactics if he quoted the line:

"The quality of mercy is not strained."

Or would he draw comparisons between the principals in this so-called love case and the principals in Macbeth?

Shakespeare would have gloried in the opportunity to study Mrs. Snyder's and Mr. Gray's emotions, about which psychologists talk so much and know so little.

But we are without Shakespeare and we satisfy ourselves with the de-bunking efforts of our very able American reporters.

Something or other started me to talking today about the most interesting man in the world. Not Mussolini. Not George Bernard Shaw. None of our politicians or kings of cameraland. My candidate for the title of M. I. M. W. is Thomas A. Edison.

For more than forty years Edison averaged a patent every eleven days. If any man is entitled to be called a genius he is. And yet Edison modestly says: "Genius is two per cent. inspiration and ninety-eight per cent. perspiration." Perhaps he was trying to tell us politely that each of us ought to work harder.

It is difficult for me to imagine the third hope which our southern neighbors are offering as the result of the Mississippi flood. Any one who has experienced a smaller flood however, will realize what the lower river states are undergoing. The South deserves our sympathy.

Talks by Those in Public Eye.

SIR GEORGE PAISH.

Sir George Paish was created a knight in 1912. He is a British economist, governor of the London School of Economics. From 1914 to 1916 he served as the adviser of the chancellor of exchequer and the British treasury on questions of finance and economics. He is also an author on economic subjects. Sir George Paish was born November 7, 1867.

Sir George, before sailing for home, advocating the leveling of all trade walls as a cure for present economic conditions in Europe a plan which evidently doesn't appeal to European countries, manifestly, as they have erected more trade walls against each other than ever existed before. He said:

"I suggest to you that you should again consider the question of the inter allied debts—not because Europe is not in a position to pay, having regard to its productive power, but having regard to the difficulty that faces Europe in selling its own goods to you. If you would buy the goods from Europe that Europe need to sell you in order to make payment, there would be no difficulty. But you do not wish to buy them. There is where the trouble comes.

"If you will examine your trade figures with regard to Europe you will discover that Europe is buying just twice as much American produce as America is buying of European goods.

"There is one other factor that I should like you to note, because I have not given you the total story. The other factor is Russia. Before the war, Russia used to supply Europe with nearly half of all the food that it needed to buy abroad. Russia and Roumania together supplied Europe with something like 500,000,000 bushels of grain per annum, on the average, out of a total needed of about 900,000,000 bushels.

"Today neither Russia nor Roumania is able to export more than about one tenth of what they exported before the war. That is a serious loss to Europe, because Europe had no difficulty in paying for those foodstuffs. Both Russia and Roumania needed manufactured goods in payment, and there was no difficulty. Because those countries are not exporting as they were before the war Europe needs to buy here and in Canada more foodstuffs than in pre-war days. That is the reason for the expansion in your exports of wheat in particular."

Vagrant Verse.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL.

For country scenes my homesick heart has sighed,
For the peace, the sweetness of the grassy lanes;
The sunset's splendor where the sky is wide,
The smell of growing things in April rains.
I have felt impressed in these walled in places
And thought, "Oh Beauty can be found in traces."

But even here with Beauty I have met,
I find she often walks abroad the nights
When it is raining and the pavements wet,
Are like still pools reflecting golden lights.
I have seen her colors market stalls adorning
And heard her voice in church bells Sunday morning.

Why did I think it all prosaic here,
Where daily looks and deeds of love I see?
There is always poetry with children near
And mother-eyes that brood so tenderly.
Yes, Beauty has a home here in the city,
With God and human love and human pity.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, May 3 — Manhattan maids are affecting a Mongolian look. It has become a fashion for them to gaze with a calmly oriental mien with half-lidded eyes. The hair is parted in the middle and sleeked back. The complexion is a light sepia and the large loop earring is the vogue.

All this fresh on drawings are accentuating the Mongol idea. Specialty shops feature almond eyes and blood accordingly. It offers a curious contrast to the froth of flapperism. Against an Esquimau it would seem the effect too far for repose. A studied calm.

A new walk has sprung up in the cafes instead of the eight skirted hop-step. Cigarets in long holders are puffed in the dreamy fashion of a vague odalisque. Nails are worn extremely long and pointed. Even perfumes have the dedicated air of Asia.

The cosmopolitan so marked that a magazine recently returned a serial from a popular writer who made flapperism the theme with the observation, "The story is excellent, but we believe the flapper has gone out."

There are other surface indications the magazine might. A chain of drug stores, selling shoelaces, found there was no longer a demand and closed out the remnants at a bargain. The Lace boom and a bisp are dead.

A beauty tutor pamphlet seems to have done the deed with. There has come a placid Mona Lisa demeanor. She must have the unruffled calm of a Buddha. There must be a total touch to her coiffure, her complexion and her costume. The hoyden is an antique.

Even cabaret show stage ladies were the first to adopt the new idea in manner and dress. Quite a number are wearing skirts almost to the ground in defiance of the Paris ukase for short skirts. Slang is taboo. Dreamy and glad rags the new motif.

At a dinner party the other evening a butler seemed to have lost that placidity that goes with his station. He upset a glass, served a course at the wrong time and was otherwise on the fritz. He was a bad flutter," explained the host. He lost $8,000 by a turn in the market today."

The late Archer butler—known as Hodges—and once a fixture in one of the Fifth avenue mansions, is now down. He decided to retire to the English countryside. His employer gave him a year's salary as award for faithful service. In making ready to leave, it is said, Hodges showed he owned three small hotels, a bakery and two florist shops and was president of a big firm. One son is vice president of the investing firm and his daughter is now the mayor in a bustling southern city. All of all these years he had so completely hidden from all in the tranquil dignified household that even his employers did not know his full name. They knew him only as Hodges.

Charlie Hughes had a butler named Meadows out in Jersey. He resigned when one of Charlie's friends one day called him "Pat boy."

Twenty Years Ago.

This day was Friday.

The cable told of the killing of hundreds, the exact nature, as the result of a gunpowder explosion in Canton, China.

Dr. J. H. Ferrell died at his home on north Main street after an illness of two weeks.

Arthur F. Cheney and Charles B. King returned from a trip to Panama in the interests of the Marion Steam Shovel company.

It was announced in the Star that Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Quigley, who had been traveling in Europe would return to Marion the following day but that Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Mc-Murray and son, who had been their traveling companion would remain in Europe till some time later.

The annexing into the corporation of several additions to the west of the city was being discussed.

A big ape weighing 8,700 pounds and belonging to the Prendergast company was hoisted to the offices of the company on the fourth floor of the Hubet building.

Robert S. Parsons was promoted to be superintendent of the Susquehanna and Tioga divisions of the B. & O.

The Dodge Bros. drawing contest conducted by the C. W. McClain company were won by Miss Bertha Langer.

The D. A. I. fraternity gave a ball at Huber hall.

Rev. J. W. Magruder, a former Marion boy who had served as pastor of the Chestnut Street M. E. church in Portland, Maine became secretary of the Associated Charities in Baltimore.

Burke went into the box for Marion and New Castle was defeated five to two. Eppo Jones played an errorless game.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Wonderly of Monrose avenue.

The Star told of the birth, the day before, of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Williams of Seltzer avenue.

Mrs. A. J. Dumbaugh was hostess to the Twig club. The honors at cards went to Mrs. F. K. Hibbs.

Dinner Stories.

Lady: "What are these plants, please?"

Maid: "They are tobacco plants in full bloom."

Lady: "How interesting! How long will it be before the cigars are ripe?"

* * *

"Since I bought a car I don't have to walk to the bank to make any deposits."

"Do you ride there?"

"No, I don't make any."

* * *

"Has your husband given up golf?"

"No, but he still uses the language when changing tires."

* * *

"Your speedometer shows you have gone 25,000 miles. Been taking some long tours?"

"No, the 5,000 is the distance I have covered going back and forth to the office, and the other 20,000 the distance I have covered looking for parking places."

An author once wrote to a producer asking for a concise formula for writing a successful motion picture story. The producer wrote:

"A motion picture story should contain religion, comedy, society, action, sex interest, and it can't be too short.

"For such a scenario I will be glad to pay from ten to twenty thousand dollars."

A few days later the producer received a letter from the author reading as follows:

"Herewith story containing religion, comedy, society, action, sex interest. And it's short. Send check by return mail."

Enclosed was the manuscript, which read as follows:

"My God," laughed the countess, "I've broken my leg!"

Marion Woman Describes Experiences in War Torn China in Letter Sent to Star

... by the American con... to keep in close touch ... with, both residents and ... warn them against ... where their presence might ... are described in a letter ... The Marion Star by Mrs. ... 579 S. State st., whose ... world has taken her to ... Mrs. Spirit, with her brother, ... noted lecturer, were ... Peking when the letter was ...

... good Steamship Resolute ... first sailed into Hong Kong harbor with its four hundred passengers, we found the harbor full of cruisers and warships as well as one Red Cross steamer," her letter relates. "Upon our arrival we were informed that it would be impossible for us to sail up the Pearl Rim to Canton as had been originally planned. Hong Kong, however, is under British rule, and safe for the tourist.

"With a party of eighteen with guides and guards, we went to Canton, taking a Chinese boat wrapped with barb wire and patroled by armed Indian soldiers. Every Chinese passenger of the second and third classes aboard our boat was searched and put under guard.

Arrive in Canton

"We arrived in Canton at 9 a. m. and found the river fronts as well as European and American buildings surrounded with barb wire. Here we divided into three groups each escorted by guides and guards, since the police had said, 'small groups would likely not be noticed.'

"Canton is truly Chinese . . . streets so narrow that two Chinaman wearing their large hats must tip them sideways when passing and our rickshaws when turning corners ran their poles into open stores, forcing customers and clerks to dodge.

"One of the most interesting places we visited was the 'hotel for the dead' where Chinese bodies remain in their caskets prepared for burial until their 'lucky day' arrives. One casket we saw had been there six years waiting for the corpse's 'lucky day.' Food and money are left for the dead people to use in the spirit world.

Medicine Temple

"At the medicine temple are 60 tablets fastened on the walls, each tablet representing one of the 60 years in a human being's life. Here the Chinese pray, kneeling before the tablet marking the age of the sick one for whom their prayers are offered. Should he be more than 60 years old they pray at each tablet, beginning over again at number one.

"The parts of the city not open to foreigners at the present time, were carefully avoided by our party. Soldiers had been taken from Canton to Nunkin and the American Consul had warned all Americans to be ready to vacate at a moment's notice. American missionaries had already been transferred.

"Chinese resent the foreign element. One of our cruise staff said, 'one word at the wrong time or place may cause the mob to open fire.' We carefully guarded our words and actions.

Silent and Unsmiling

"There are so many millions of these yellow people and they are all so silent and unsmiling that we can't help wondering just what they are thinking. We went down the Sampans where millions live in little covered boats. Here they are born, marry and die. They tie cords around the children's waists so that when they fall in the water they may be easily pulled back into the boat.

Jade Earrings

"Chinese women have a passion for jade earrings and pins. They will spend the wages of a lifetime for a piece of jade, for a piece of jade to a Chinese woman is like a diamond to an American.

"We had hoped to visit Shanghai at this point in our trip but were cabled by the consul that it was not safe. At Tientsen and Peking we are safe. We stopped a day at Formosa—a Japanese province. There we were met by the American consul and taken to lunch at the palace of the governor general. In a written speech in his own language, given to Americans through an interpreter, we were welcomed to Formosa. It was the most royal welcome we had received except in our own Manila.

"Our American spokesman replied in our behalf closing his speech with the words, 'As the Japanese and American flags have entwined throughout the centuries, may they never be further apart.' Upon leaving the governor general presented each of us a pound of colony tea and a pound of camphor, both principal products of the settlement.

"We also visited Sumatra, Borneo, Singapore and Java while in this territory.

Entertained by Dutch

"We were royally entertained by the Dutch. In the Dutch possessions one finds wonderful roads, fine buildings and some electrified railroads.

"In every one of these islands except Borneo there were enough automobiles to carry our whole party of 400 at one time, nearly ever car being of American make.

"Americans are well liked. Even the silent Chinamen like us. They take Uncle Sam's dollars in every port even if it's a paper dollar.

"Our steamer went from Bangkok down to Borneo, a distance of more than 2,000 miles for oil and the crew and we saved $30,000 at that.

No Wild Men

"We saw no wild men in Borneo but smiling, kindly people who eyed us with great curiosity, ours having been the first world cruise stopping at their island.

"At Sumatra we were forced to use our steamer for a hotel, since the great earthquake of last June razed every building of any size.

"Singapore is as modern as Marion—it's the Gibraltar of the east and its hotels are palatial. We were entertained by the rubber kings here and visited their vast plantations.

"At Java we found electric trams similar to those in New York. The greatest botanical garden of the continent is to be found there.

"Many of the natives live in houses built in trees but still are 'civilized' enough to own an automobile. But it's a new world—new people—of new religions and customs. One of the impressions of the cruise is that the world is not so big, that folks are much alike the world over and that most of them are doing the best they know how. Travel takes the egotism out of one."

Dayton Man To Lay Reformed Corner Alone

Dr. H. J. Christman, president of the Central Theological Seminary at Dayton, will have charge of laying the cornerstone of the new First Reformed Church on S. Prospect-st, the afternoon of May 13. At the morning service Rev. Herbert F. Wenkmueller, pastor of the church, will open the old cornerstone with an appropriate address. The old stone was laid in 1901.

The cost of the new church, including Sunday School division already completed, is estimated at $71,000. Church men were forced to go in debt $42,000 of that amount, the remainder having been collected at church services since the building program began and added to the original building fund of $22,000. S. H. Keller is chairman of the building committee.

It is thought the new church will be ready for occupancy in October as work is progressing rapidly.

Services are held each Sunday in the Sunday School rooms which were completed early this spring. The new church has been completely razed and work of installing the foundation of the new church began.

MISSING MAN'S MOTHER BELIEVES HE IS SAFE

Mrs. Phoebe Harris Says Former Marion Resident Saw Son After Disappearance

That her son is safe although his whereabouts are unknown, is the belief of Mrs. Phoebe Harris, N. State-st, mother of Russell Terry Harris, 27, who disappeared from his home in Massillon on March 7, suffering from what is believed to be loss of memory.

Mrs. Harris bases her hopes on a letter received this morning from a former resident of Marion, but who now lives in Akron, who said she had met and talked to Harris in Akron on March 22, or eight days after his disappearance. The fact that she has received no reply to letters mailed to her daughter-in-law, also leads Mrs. Harris to believe she is not with her husband.

According to the letter received by Mr. Harris this morning, Harris in his conversation with the former Marion woman, made no reference to his absence from Massillon and the first information he had of any trouble was when she saw it in The Star.

CHAPTER XL

"BETTY!" exclaimed John Clayton, running to the girl's side. "Betty control yourself."

But the hysterical Betty, sobbing violently, slumped into a chair and buried her face in her hands.

Martha Dalton knelt down beside her and put her arms around her. A significant look had been exchanged between Mary and John Clayton. Rusty watched her sister with a troubled face. Carson was thinking: "The strain has been too much. One of them had to give way and betray their secret. I was right."

"Now, Betty," Martha Dalton was saying soothingly to the young girl, "please don't take it to heart so. We're all disappointed and heartbroken to learn that Jim isn't going to get well as we'd expected. But you mustn't hold it against Mollie for asking Jim to get a thorough rest. It's just as much on her part you know that, Mollie Elwell never did a selfish thing in her life."

"It was just that Jim couldn't stand excitement in his condition and Mollie didn't want any plans upset because of his inability to move in them. I think it was the most unselfish thing in the world for Mollie to do. I can do as well. It's hard to say [illegible] Jim."

Betty [illegible] "All right," she [illegible] "I'll try."

"That seems to put the kibosh on our plans for going to Europe," said John Clayton presently. "But I'll come to [illegible] plans. Nevertheless," followed his remark. He thought for a moment and then continued:

"I may not be going entirely alone. You can't expect to send those little children over here going to that evil Mecca and not be able to charge Mollie a specific sum regarding certain things. If we give her time I'm sure she cannot get over the fact that girls are different from the Red Cross of Betty of other days. Well, I'm [illegible] those days off. After all, a [illegible] Europe will do Jim a good rest and she'll be able to see things differently."

"I wouldn't go a step to Europe without those children," declared Rusty, "and I'm not going to leave Betty for anything. Jim's getting well and Mollie didn't want my plans upset because of his inability to move in them. I think it was the most unselfish thing in the world for Mollie to do. I can do as well. It's hard to say [illegible] Jim."

Betty [illegible] "All right," she [illegible] "I'll try."

"That seems to put the kibosh on our plans for going to Europe," said John Clayton presently. "But I'll come to [illegible] plans. Nevertheless," followed his remark. He thought for a moment and then continued:

"I wouldn't go a step to Europe without those children," declared Rusty, "and I'm not going to leave Betty for anything. I'm staying over here and make our plans just as though Jim were dead. Just there's nothing that can be done Uncle John, to make him well again."

Clayton shook his head. "I wish I knew. Believe me, dear, we'll have the finest doctors that money can get, but I wouldn't want to raise your hopes and then see them dashed. I can't tell you nothing. You know just as much about it as I do."

"Poor little girl," said Martha Dalton, patting her head as Betty's sobbing. "Don't you believe now. You mustn't let Jim see you crying when you know. And I'm sure I don't blame

6 things to understand about used car allowances

1 WHEN you trade-in your used car for a new car, you are after all making a purchase, not a sale. You are simply applying your present car as a credit toward the purchase price of the new car.

2 YOUR used car has only one fundamental basis of value; i. e., what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.

3 YOUR used car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.

4 THE largest allowance is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not.

5 AN excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.

6 FIRST judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in allowance offered on your used car.

CANTON DAILY NEWS IS PULITZER MEDAL WINNER

Award Made to Paper West of Alleghenies for First Time

Canton, May 3—The Canton Daily News has been awarded the annual Pulitzer medal, given each year since 1918, with the exception of 1925 for "the most disinterested and meritorious public service rendered by any American newspaper, during the year 1920, as by brave, patriotic and effective zeal for the purification of municipal politics, for the ending of a vicious state of affairs brought about by the collusion between city authorities and the criminal element, a fight which had a tragic result in the assassination of the editor of the paper, Don R. Mellett."

The award comes to a newspaper west of the Alleghenies for the first time.

In commenting upon the winning of the award here today, resident Publisher Charles E. Morris, who succeed the late Mr. Mellett, said:

"In acknowledgment of the Pulitzer award, the Canton Daily News reaffirms for itself the Pulitzer avowal of service grateful for the recognition that it has shown worthiness thereunder.

"The News is worthy only, however, because it has tried not to be false to the aims fixed by Don R. Mellett. It was his work and his sacrifice which made it possible to save a city from the strangling grasp of corruption.

"Early Autumn," by Louis Bromfield, received $1,000 as the Pulitzer award for the most representative novel on American life and letters published during the year. "In Abraham's Bosom," by Paul Green, was awarded the $1,000 prize for the best play.

25 OF 48 LIVING CIVIL WAR VETERANS PRESENT

Annual Roll Call of Cooper Post Is Conducted at Community Home

Twenty five of the 48 living members of Cooper Post, No. 117, Grand Army of the Republic, responded to roll call at the annual roll call meeting of members of that organization yesterday at Community House, S. High-st. Five members had died during the past year.

The principal address of the afternoon was the splendid talk of patriotic nature given by Rev. W. H. Howard, pastor of First United Brethren Church. The Woman's Relief Corps Quartet entertained with several vocal selections.

Arrangements for the memorial Sunday and decoration day programs were discussed and final arrangements made for sending the drum corps and colors to the National Encampment at Dayton in September and to the State Encampment at Canton in June. It is thought that this will be the last opportunity for a state encampment and all are urged to attend.

Dinner was served at noon by members of Harriette Beecher Stowe Tent No. 48, Daughters of Union Veterans, with covers placed for members of the post, their wives or widows, and members of the Woman's Relief Corps, Daughters of Union Veterans and Ladies of the G. A. R. as well as other guests.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR SCHOOL COAL SUPPLY

Marion Grain & Supply Co. to Furnish 1,500 Tons at $4.54 Next Year

Contract for furnishing coal to the city schools next year was awarded to the Marion Grain & Supply Co. on bid of $4.54 a ton submitted to the board of education at its monthly meeting held at the office of Superintendent Jesse H. Mason, last night.

The schools use approximately 1,500 tons of coal annually.

The successful bid, submitted in competition with proposals from five other local dealers, was for Pomeroy coal. The Marion Grain & Supply Co. also bid $5.11 on West Virginia coal.

Other bids were as follows: E. F. Patton & Son Co. $4.75; Chapman Coal & Supply Co. $4.67; Leslie Adams Lumber & Coal Co. $5.00; J. P. Wise & Son, $4.74; Charter Oil, Coal & Supply Co., which proposed to furnish coal at actual cost plus 25 cents for each ton.

All of the bids specified Ohio coal with the exception of the one from the Leslie Adams company, which failed to designate any special product and for that reason could not be considered. The Charter Oil & Coal Supply Co. proposal was regarded as being too indefinite for consideration.

Under requirements of the contract, all coal furnished must be less than four inch lump.

DOUBLING OF QUOTAS SPURS CHAPTER WORK

Organization Chairmen Receive Instructions from Washington

Red Cross organizations in Marion, Morrow, Crawford, Hardin, Union, and Wyandot Counties rallied today to the urgent appeal from national headquarters that new telegraphed instructions to double the quota for flood relief contributions, in each of the above named localities.

Executive secretaries and chapter chairmen in the various counties received word of the quota doubling this morning and almost immediately steps were being taken to meet the appeal.

Hardin County

With $1,050 already subscribed for a quota first placed at $1275, the Hardin County Chapter of the Red Cross will strive to obtain the goal of $2325 set by the national organization today, according to an announcement by Mrs. Mary E. Matthews, executive secretary of the county chapter.

Crawford County's quota now is $2,250 according to announcement by Chairman Thomas Henderson of the county chapter this morning. Late returns yesterday showed that $850.25 had already been subscribed. "You Hoo" a musical comedy produced by Irving S. Plain and presented at Bucyrus some time ago is to be repeated May 9 for the flood relief fund. Newton and Grace Battle to Draw in Ring Classic

Both Battered and Groggy in Final Round; Johnny Lee Unable to Enter Ring

Akron Fighter Suffering With Abscess; Fred Dundee of Mansfield Replaces Him in Battle Against Mickey Flannegan of Dayton

BY "BUCK"

SPENT by a barrage of fierce body blows but game as they come in the ring, Ray Newton, Mansfield's youthful scrapper, jabbed his way to a draw with Ervin Grace, Columbus, mauler, in the eight-round final of the Eagles' boxing show last night in Eagles' Hall.

This wind-up of one of the best shows ever put on by the Eagles was nothing short of a ring classic. It alone was well worth the price of admission.

While official credit gave Newton but 50 per cent of the honors those who saw this fistic exhibition declare it was a victory for Newton.

When the battle was over Newton was groggy and had to be helped to his dressing-room. Grace showed plainly the marks of the struggle. In the final round Newton with one last desperate left jab opened a wound over Grace's left eye that sent him reeling to the ropes. Newton was too exhausted to follow up.

Just before the battle ended both men were leaning wearily against each other, neither able to deliver a damaging blow. Claret from the wound over Grace's left optic added to the gory spectacle of two exhausted fighters trying to keep their feet until the final gong sounded.

Clever Footwork

Grace gave one of the cleverest exhibitions of footwork and ring generalship ever witnessed in a squared arena in Marion. His shifting and dodging had Newton bewildered in several rounds.

Newton, slightly the taller, had the advantage of reach, which stood him in good stead when Grace attempted to rush. Newton also displayed some clever dodging and covering up. Several times when it looked like the Columbus mauler was going to put his opponent away, Newton stepped sideways, uncovered and ripped uppercuts, several of which connected on vulnerable spots.

Both men were forced into the ropes but neither remained there long. Grace had the lead in in-fighting. Consequently Newton avoided it.

Newton in First

Newton got the edge in the first round by cautious fighting and by sending home several dangerous lefts. Grace countered with his killing right but was unable to knock down his adversary's guard to make them count.

In the second stanza Grace forced the fight and had Newton on the defensive throughout. Only twice did the Mansfield youth land in an exchange of socks.

Honors were divided in the third round, both men mixing freely and neither doing much damage. Newton landed one hard left to Grace's head. Toward the end of the round Grace evened the score with a hard right jolt to the jaw.

Fourth Round

In the fourth round the fighting was about even with Grace getting over some of his wicked rights. Newton also ripped home a flock of left jabs. Grace probably had the edge in this round.

Both men shared an equal amount of punishment in the fifth round. Kidney punches and head blows delivered in clinches featured this part of the fight.

In the sixth Grace, showing an unusual freshness, tore into the Mansfield fighter and mauled him around the ring. Newton finally dropped his guard and stepped back. Grace, with his characteristic style, lunged and caught a left jab in the neck. This stoped his agressiveness.

Party Gets Rough

Both fighters tore in in the seventh with Newton overcoming the lead piled up by Grace in the earlier part of the fight. With vicious left jabs and occasional right he pounded the Columbus fighter to the ropes and had him hanging on when the bell sounded.

The final round of this rough-and-tumble saw both men battered and groggy fighting to keep their feet. It was in this last effort that Newton shot across the right that caused the mixup over Grace's left eye.

That blow was the last punch of any consequence. The other eight left little impression, except with the boxing and well-satisfied crowd.

Schneider Looks Good

Ray Schneider, a local youth seen in the ring here for the first time, put on a great battle against Tommy Glenn of Springfield, who is him outweighed by at least 10 pounds. Schneider has plenty of ability and brought cheer after cheer from the The bout went four rounds.

Tommy Jones of Columbus, got the best of Harold Williams, of this city, in the preliminary bout. Both were in the ring at 121 pounds. Williams seemed unable to get going, and when he did Jones stopped him with a left jab. Williams had the habit of lowering his head and charging like a bull. Every time he charged, Jones met him with that omnipresent left.

The semi-final bout was entertaining to say the least. Johnny Lee of Akron, scheduled to go six rounds against Mickey Flannegan of Dayton, was here but was unable to fight because of an abscess on his nose. He acted as second to Fred Dundee of Mansfield his substitute.

First Fight

According to the manager of the lad, it was his first big fight. That may account for his pawing the air on various occasions against an experienced fighter. Dundee plowed in like he was taking his daily swimming lessons and then stand back to see if he had hurt his opponent.

Mickey Flannegan danced around the ring, set his mouth in a firm line and went after it as if he was afraid he might hurt the young gentleman against whom he was pitted. The boy from Dayton was an easy winner but Dundee put up a game fight at any rate.

A large crowd witnessed the third boxing show of the season for the Eagles who are now equipped so that they may handle a large number of fans as well as furnish some real fight entertainment.

TOMMY LOUGHRAN TO MEET YOUNG STRIBLING

Bout Should Have Important Bearing on Light Heavyweight Situation

New York, May 3—Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, meets Young Stribling of Georgia tonight at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, in a bout that should have an important bearing on the light heavyweight situation. The bout is scheduled for 10 rounds and Loughran is favored to win. The Philadelphian will endeavor to strengthen his position as the foremost challenger for Jack Delaney's crown, while Stribling is anxious to atone for his disappointment bout with Paul Berlenbach.

Betting sentiment shifted to Loughran following the circulation of reports that Stribling had sustained a serious injury. Walk Miller, Stribling's manager, requested yesterday that the bout be postponed but examination of Stribling later revealed that his injury was of a minor nature.

WILL THE KENTUCKY DERBY END THIS WAY?

Scapa Flow Wins! Candy Queen Second! Valorous Third! The striking photo shows three of the leading candidates for Kentucky Derby honors. Turning it out in the thirty-sixth renewal of the Futurity at Belmont track last fall, Scapa Flow, son of Man O'War, is leading the field to the wire. Candy Queen, one of the entries from the H. T. Archibald stable, is second, and Valorous, one of the "hot tips" for Derby play, is running third. What if history repeated itself Derby Day?

Main Sentimental Interest in Kentucky Derby To Center Around Appearance of Man O' War Progeny

BY NORMAN E. BROWN

REGARDLESS of the form [illegible] the principal interest in the [illegible] Derby probably will center [illegible] Man O'War colt in the field [illegible] will be the first appearance [illegible] Man O'War [illegible] who has been in [illegible] some time [illegible]

Scapa Flow and War Eagle, [illegible] Scapa Flow, Son of Battle Post, Lemon Yellow, Mirage and Purple Haze.

Of the lot Scapa Flow and War Eagle are the favorites. Scapa Flow, in the early season betting has been placed at 3 to 1 or 10 to 3 favorite. War Eagle, who has not started as frequently, has been having a better play.

Those looking over the field believe that Scapa Flow and War Eagle, together with Osmond, outside the Bradley entry and Man O'War stripped may spell the death of Bradley's hopes of repeating his 1926 triumph when two of his mounts first finished first and second.

Of the Bradley entries Bon and Bubbly Bacon are given the preference. Bon's victory in the Louisiana Derby [illegible] well for him. In addition to these two Bradley is running up Bit O'Love.

In addition to the horses mentioned [illegible] F. Whitney of the Tyanak [illegible], Rocquefeller, an imported horse, and Rip Rap are given much attention. Rip Rap, owned by H. W. Sage, has won Scapa Flow, Osmond, War Eagle, Bon and one or two others a race for favorite honors in the winter and early spring days.

Candy Queen, from the Archibald stable, and Valorous, an early "hot tip" may surprise by their showing.

Spectators Have Chance at Prizes Next Sunday; Lucky Tickets Will Win

Box of Oranges, Candy and Half-Soles Go with Favored Pasteboards; Many Players' Awards Remain To Be Given During Next Few Games

MARION Athletic players profited by offers made by merchants in the opening game Sunday but next week spectators will also have a hand in the awards, according to Jimmy Rizzo, who is on another prize ramp-age this week.

There will be three lucky tickets drawn next Sunday when the Cleveland Colts meets Sandusky here. One ticket will be good for a box of oranges given by Amicon Bros., another will get the holder a two-pound box of candy at Markert & Lewis, and the third means a new pair of soles for somebody's shoes. L. Jessup of the Marion Quick Shoe Repair shop on N. Main st. is offering the latter prize.

In addition to these awards next Sunday, there will also be a number of the players' prizes given for members of the Marion team.

Beg Pardon!

In making a thorough check of the awards won in the first game Sunday, it has been found that two of the players listed in these columns in Monday's issue as forfeiting to Rizzo actually failed to go to Bacon. Bacon won two bases and will get the $5 coupon for one and one for three. Bacon, manager of the Midcontinental team and also was the first man to get a hard hose, which entitles him to Wilson's glove at Tetzel & Mack. These awards were listed under Rizzo's name last night.

A party given by Uhler-Phillips [illegible] goes to Rowan for the first successful [illegible] of the season. That name was not mentioned in the first list prepared.

To collect the prizes it will be necessary to get an order from Manager Bacon to present to the merchants making the awards.

Double Play

There have been many inquiries as to the first double play prize to be given. Charles F. Smith, clothier, [illegible] award a hat, will go to the man making the first double play, unassisted. [illegible] be made [illegible]

While there were two double outs made Sunday, neither was made unassisted.

Three home run prizes remain. The ball must be knocked over the right field fence if the player wishes to [illegible] merchandise offered by the Hildebrand Sales Co. A home run with the bases full means $50 worth of furniture at Smithers, and one over the centerfield fence gets a new suit for the hitter at Butler's store.

Blake's Offer

Ben Blake's offer of $5 and a bouquet to the umpire who goes through a game without getting razzed still stands—and probably will stand the rest of the season. Main has a chance for a Knox hat from Klummsier's via the shortstop route and will get a topcoat if he bats a visiting team with only one hit. A triple will bring the hitter a Fisk cord tube from the Marion Overland and a pair of trousers from the [illegible] store.

The pitcher striking out three in one inning gets a baseball glove given by James Prendergast, a pinch hitter making a hit gets a $25 chair from the H. C. Scharff Co., and each player starting the game hitting the Faultless Dry Cleaning sign in center field is entitled to have his suit dry-cleaned free of charge.

The Marion Buick Co. is giving a tire to the man making the most two-base hits during the season.

It has been planned by merchants of Marion to make various awards to spectators in the manner mentioned above during the entire season.

Try This Simple Method For Blackheads

If you are troubled with these unsightly blemishes, get two ounces of Calonite powder from any drug store. Sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth and rub over the blackheads. In a few minutes every blackhead, big or little, will be dissolved away entirely.—Adv.

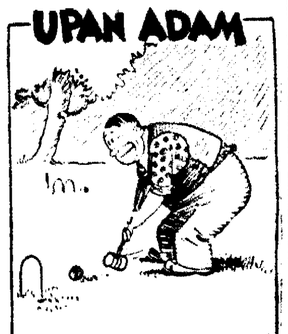
Paulino Will Know Today Whether He Is Eligible To Meet Dempsey

New York, May 3—Whether Paulino Uzcudun, Spanish heavyweight, will be able to go through with the proposed bout with Jack Dempsey at Harry Wills in New York State will be determined today when Al Meyer, Basque wrestling promoter, appeals to the state athletic commission to reinstate him. Paulino was under suspension here for his alleged failure to fight Ed Keeley in Boston under the terms of a contract with Promoter Ed the Mack of that city.



"Clark Griffith's team may not get anywhere but with a goose and a gray eagle he has a bird of an outfield."

Steam Shovel Gymnasium is Closed During Summer

THE Marion Steam Shovel gym has been closed until fall for cleaning and repairs. Golf swingers may use the cages in the gym for practice but other activities have ceased. The outdoor season is getting under way.

With the closing of the gym comes the end of the Steam Shovel Industrial Basketball League. The Electrics and Order department finished in a tie for first place each having won four games and lost one during the season. The Welders come next with three victories and a defeat. Apprentices and Engineers are tied for the next berth with two victories and three losses each, and General Office occupies the cellar with three defeats and no wins.

According to word received from the Steam Shovel Co. the wrecks will probably never play off the tie, either on indoor baseball or outdoor baseball ball.

In Frequent Use

The new gym at the Shovel put to use for the first time this winter has been used almost every night since late last fall. If it wasn't basketball or volleyball, or other athletics, it was a dance or some social affair. But there was always something doing.

The gym was used for Shovel activities only. No outside organization could hear the building for any event. Besides the regular representative teams played basketball games, the Shovel had a number of leagues organized among the various shops. This group will now start on the recreational ball diamonds, golf links, or tennis courts, to see nothing of horseshoes.

Two leagues for recreational ball teams have already been organized and will start play as soon as a complete schedule is made. Francis W. Bacon, personnel director of the Marion Steam Shovel, has drawn up the schedule but is waiting for the meeting of the city recreational ball commission tonight to see whether or not his meets will be together with the bill of fare to be prepared for the season by the commission. Plans are being made to avoid any clear with Center Marks aggregation.

TRACK EVENTS ON FIRST DAY; JUDGES CHOSEN

Fairground and Central Junior High To Be Scenes of Activities

HARDING HIGH'S inter-class track meet will be held Wednesday and Thursday at the fairground and on the Central Junior High field, Coach Sprout announced today.

The dashes and all track events, together with the javelin throw, are to be staged at the fairground Wednesday night with the other field events being held at Central Junior the following afternoon. The meet will be called about 1 o'clock or as soon after school hours as the entries are able to get on the scene.

Should rain or cold weather prevent the holding of the events as listed on Wednesday and Thursday, Coach Sprout plans to make use of Friday afternoon to complete the meet.

Decides Representatives

Not only will the inter-class meet decide the track and field championship of Harding High classes but it will also decide who will represent Harding at the Central Ohio district meet at Delaware a week from Saturday. The coach is expected to choose those who make a commendable showing to represent the local school at Delaware.

Everything is in readiness for the meet. All entries are in the hands of the managers of the tourney and judges have been selected. Dewey Bolyer will be starter in the track events and "Babie" Compton will act as timer.

Dick McAnnach is captain of the sophomore group, Rud Crain will lead the juniors, and Hugh Shults has charge of the senior team. All teams have been practicing during the last three weeks and several of the local boys visited the Ohio Relays a week ago to get a few pointers on what was what in track.

ANTHONY TEAM WILL NOT PLAY WEDNESDAY

Former Announcement of Delaware Game Not Authentic, Says Manager

Anthony Cleaners' recreational ball team will not play Delaware here Wednesday night, as announced a few days ago through these columns. It has developed that one player took it upon himself to book the game and made the announcement before consulting any other members of the team.

Managers of the Anthony club state that the boys will probably not start playing outside organizations until about June 1 or later.

Interest in the local team has been shown by the large number of inquiries concerning the game, since the announcement was made public.

Sleepless Nights Usually Means Bladder Weakness

When you have to get up two or three times during the night it is often a sign of bladder trouble.

You may or may not have symptoms such as a steady dull aching back and darting pains in the groin. At any rate Marchroot is guaranteed to help you in a very short time or money back.

You'll feel better after taking one bottle—more energy and whole nights of sound sleep. It isn't expensive. Henney & Cooper sell lots of it.—Adv.

Ty Cobb is Hitting With Major League Leaders and Running Amuck on Bases; Good as Ever, Says Walsh

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK—May 3—Just by way of keeping the record straight and possibly righting a great wrong or something this writer wishes to call attention to the fact that T. Raymond Cobb, the man with a promising future, is hitting today. Further than that, he is running amuck on the bases and is playing well enough to get by in the outfield so it possibly is time to cease chanting the litany and begin cheering wildly at the slightest provocation.

The writer has held the notion that Cobb won't finish the season as an athletic regular and it may be that I will be right, just by way of variety. But that is of no great importance compared with the fact that Cobb's record for the first three weeks of the season is one of the outstanding achievements of all baseball.

No man in the history of the game has given it so much of himself as Cobb has done in his 23 years in the major leagues; no man has suffered the physical and mental toll that Cobb has given to the pure sensationalism of his play. Yet today, well past 40, he is batting with the leaders and, indeed, rapidly overtaking them.

Hitting .518

The last official averages showed Cobb hitting .386 but he has been going places and doing things in the meantime. For a half hour yesterday his average had attained the noble altitude of .518 and with another all he would have ranged in behind Fothergill and Goslin for the league leadership. But he didn't get it and his average underwent a bad rally so to speak.

However, no club has been able to stop Cobb since the start of the season and Philadelphia was gone well over him. It is unusual, they say, for Cobb to be asked to autograph a hundred baseballs before a game at Shibe Park and the estimate is that his signature has been written in by thousands since the opening game.

Baseball writers of the town concede that Cobb is doing a lot of base running on his own initiative; that he is not getting the signs from Connie Mack or the coach in the box. Yet Cobb has stolen bases in each game he has played and has made a runner of himself in every game. He is not only getting on base but he is getting around.

Need Inspiration

This may be individualism but a club like the Athletics surely has needed a touch of inspiration somewhere during recent years.

At that, most of Cobb's base running has been sound. He can't get over the ground the way he could even four years ago but the head is guiding the legs and Cobb seldom guesses wrong. When he goes from first to third on a single he usually gets there regardless of legs, and on Sunday at the stadium he startled the Yanks by advancing from first to second on an outfield fly. The ordinary ball player stations himself between first and second, thus playing the 1,000 to 1 shot that the ball will be dropped.

But Cobb and the ordinary player have nothing in common, not even the elderly Cobb of today. He may be a bust in the last of the season; he may not last to the wire in October, but, considering everything, I would say that nothing Cobb has done in all his sensational career has been greater than his remarkable showing in the early weeks of the present season.

CLASS FOOTBALL GAMES HOLD GALION'S INTEREST

Coach Eaton Conducts Examination on Game Among Squad's Aspirants

Galion, May 3—Class football games are scheduled for this week and will hold the center of the sport interest in E. H. S. Coach Eaton has had a large squad out for practice for several weeks and the games will conclude the spring football training season. The Galion mentor will see some of the new aspirants under fire for the first time and the contests will show to a great extent what possibility the gridders of next season will have of snatching the league trophy.

Something new for spring training was tried last night when members of the squad took a difficult football examination. Questions covered the work done during the period of practice sessions and will be filed for future reference.

At the close of the class game series, numerals will be awarded to players who have both participated in the games and also made a creditable examination grade.

DEBATERS AND SCHOLARS HONORED AT GALION

Recognition Is Extended to Students at Chapel Exercises

Galion, May 3—Galion high school debaters and scholars of high standing were given awards for the year at a recent chapel exercise. It has always been customary for the members of the varsity debate teams to be given letters similar to the athletic awards but only last year was the scheme devised for recognizing scholarship as well as athletic and oratorical ability.

Faculty members awarded the pins which has met with some scorn by pupils who, although realizing the necessity of encouraging higher scholastic standing, favor a totally different sort of award to distinguish the wearers from those winning fame on gridiron or basketball court.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

...on Tuesday, and when ... and when she seen me looking at her she made her eyes crosseyed, and while she was that way and couldn't see very good the cow's dotter reached up and put her cold sloppy nose all over her face and ran its tongue out and wiped it across her face, and she opened her eyes and jumped back, and then she closed her eyes and looked silly, and said, "Kiss me again, Thomas Aristides," and all the bunch began to hoorawe me, and I said it wasn't me that kissed her.

"Kiss me again, Thomas Aristides"

I said the cow had thought she was its calf and kissed her, and then they hoorawed her, and then she chased me and grabbed me by the ears and mopped her wet face all over mine. I was wishing it was not wrong for a gentleman to paist a lady. We went and got the cows tonight and the girls didn't go along. The creek is pretty cold yet.

Peter's Adventures

A Story for Boys and Girls

BY FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

FACE TO FACE

...fronted bravery Peter's ... a trip hammer as he ... there in the open. He ... and the Chipmunks ..., for all the world. So ... first in this Great ... that. Then he crept ... end of the rock to ... peeped around the ... turned back to the door ... the Chipmunks clustered ... waiting him.

"...," said Peter ... keep his voice low so that ... could not carry it to the ... disappear into the Great Woods and he breathed a sigh of relief.

"Thank goodness, they are safe." I wouldn't have anything happen to those cousins of mine for all the world. I have been watching them from my nest in the tree ever so long, my heart in my mouth, and I must have a drink right this minute."

Peter turned quickly. Something tickled his nose. He was face to face with a stout gentleman in grey. And the gentleman had rum whiskers—was they that tickled him and the longest ever that the boy had ever seen. Just then the stranger moved and then the boy discovered that he had a tail, a big bushy one, too—a tail as black as a furless dinner. The bewhiskered gentleman in grey was none other than Grey Squirrel himself.

Next: "A Weed for a Water Pitcher."

THEY LOOKED LIKE FLYING STREAKS OF RED ...

Leering eyes of Cutie Fox and Weasel waiting for their prey at the back door of the burrow. "Come out quietly, one by one; don't you make a sound, and when you are in the open run—run as fast as you can."

"Fine advice, Reg," declared Mr. Tamias in a hoarse sort of way that the boy thought must be a Chipmunk whisper, "but as a matter of fact it wasted your breath. Did you ever see a Chipmunk run any other way but as fast as he could? You mean well, though, and the Tamias family will be grateful to you as long as they live. If any of us are to see you another day though, we must get away from the dangerous spot at once. Goodby, Friend! Come, children. I will lead the way and your mother will guard you in the rear, and if by chance Cutie Fox or Weasel should catch a glimpse of us before we got under cover don't get frightened and run around in circles, but make straight for the Great Woods and treat hollow in the oak tree that I showed you yesterday."

Now all the Chipmunks had come out of the burrow and as Papa Tamias finished speaking he started off, and after him scampered the six little Chipmunks and their mother, and Mr. Chipmunk's brother. They certainly ran as fast as they could—they looked like flying streaks of red—then as they ran farther and farther away from Peter he could scarcely make them out at all—their coats seemed almost to be a part of the bare brown ground. At last scraping his eyes, he saw them

INDUSTRIALS AND RAILS SCORE MODERATE GAINS

Improvement Reflects Strengthening of Inside Market Position

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks, firm; industrial stock, firm; domestic bonds, firm; foreign bonds, firm; call money 4½ per cent; grain strong; copper, firm; oil, weak; cotton, firm; rubber, steady; sugar, steady; pig iron, steady; foreign exchange strong.

New York, May 3— Both industrial and railroad stock scored moderate advances in confident trading in the stock market today. The improvement reflected strengthening of the inside position of the market rather than the play of prominent outside forces on security values, and the movement of prices was by no means uniform.

A number of speculative favorites which were pushed forward forcibly in the last few days dropped quickly on offerings. Chicago Great Western preferred, which sold yesterday at 40 1-4, declined to 35 3-4, while the common stock lost practically all of its late advance. Market movements of General Motors and United States Steel were in direct contrast, the former advancing about 3 points on strong buying, while steel common dropped 2 points.

Easier money market conditions are in sight, according to the best Wall Street view. Call money ruled at 4 1-2 per cent., but offerings at less than that rate were reported in the outside market.

Chesapeake & Ohio duplicated its best previous price record at 171 1-2. Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central, Atchison and Southern railway were strong while Kansas City Southern and Katy led the speculative rails.

General Motors' advance to above 155 was the result aggressive investment buying and short covering, based on reports that the finance committee had recommended an extra $2 dividend for the current quarter, making a total of $4 a share for the period, and an annual rate of 16 per cent.

Oil stocks firmed up on reports that Atlantic Refining Co. would resume regular dividend payments this year, the amount to be determined quarterly, and not to exceed $1 a share for the first period. All of the Standard oils fractionally higher, while independents like Marland and Phillips advanced a point or more.

Brooklyn Union Gas continued its spectacular advance to 101 3-4, completing a gain of about 10 points on the movement.

Commodity and foreign exchange markets were consistently strong. British sterling established a new peak for the year to date, and Italian lire commanded higher rates. Cotton, grain, sugar and rubber were firm.

Marion Court News

James P. Kerr filed suit for divorce in Marion County Common Pleas Court this morning against Maria E. Kerr, giving extreme cruelty as grounds for his petition.

He states that they were married Nov. 1, 1925, and that he was forced into a separation in August, 1926, because of violent outbursts of temper which had been enacted by his wife at numerous times during their married life. She told him on different occasions that she had no affection for him, called him vile names and subjected him to other abuse, Kerr claims.

On Sept. 7, 1926, the petition relates, they entered into a separation agreement and arranged a settlement of property rights. Through his attorneys, Crow & Williamson, Kerr asks for divorce and requests that his wife be barred from alimony.

Marriage License

A marriage license was issued in Probate Court today to Otis Charles Willard, 42, salesman, Columbus, and Mrs. Martha M. Kerns, 33, Marion, saleslady.

Granted Divorces

One new divorce suit was started and two divorce decrees were granted in common pleas court yesterday.

Frank L. Schofield is plaintiff against Cleo Schofield in a petition in which the wife is charged with gross neglect and failure to give proper attention to the care of her children and household duties.

The couple were married April 10, 1911 and have three children, Margaret, 12; Floyd, 10; and Rosetta, 8.

Myrtle M. Aldrich was granted a decree from Shiloh Landing Aldrich and restored to her maiden name, Myrtle Smothers. They were married in this city Sept. 10, 1922 and have no children. Mrs. Aldrich charged gross neglect and extreme cruelty.

Man Gets Decree

A divorce was granted Charles A. Morton in his suit against Lillian Morton in which he charged gross neglect and abandonment. They were married in Forest on Oct. 13, 1918 and have no children.

In the suit of Edna C. Williams against Harold C. Williams, which resulted in a decree being granted the plaintiff on March 28, an order was entered on the court docket yesterday approving the terms of property settlement which was agreed to by both husband and wife. The couple were married here on Nov. 1, 1906 and have three children.

RHEUMATISM

May be relieved by rational treatment—it can not be rubbed away.

Are you one of those unfortunates who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, commonly called rheumatism, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S. S. S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried almost everything. Went to Hot Springs . . . . then finally decided to try S. S. S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S. S. S. is the best." Earl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street, Johnson City, Tenn.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

From youth to later years S. S. S. is a proven tonic—give it and take it where a tonic is indicated.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two size. The larger size is more economical.—Adv.
